- Hang around the neck or wear as a crossbody case
- Keep both hands totally free
- Conveniently stow a card in the integrated rear compartment
- Adjust the length of the lanyard strap and remove/replace the strap easily thanks to the bayonet clip
- Lanyard straps in other colors can be bought separately

The Artwizz HangOn Case is a unisex smartphone lanyard case. The matt black-and-white patterned lanyard strap attaches securely to a precision engineered, elastic TPU protective case. This combination makes it possible to have your smartphone with you wherever you go and still have your hands free. The HangOn Case can be worn around your neck like a necklace or across your shoulder like a bag. An integrated slot on the back of the protective case provides convenient space for a card that can be quickly pushed in or out. The classic black and white strap is made of particularly soft material, has a diameter of 6mm and is 1.50 meters long. Thanks to the strap's metal double cord lock, you can easily adjust its length for maximum comfort and the perfect fit. The lanyard strap attaches to the case via two flexible, riveted loops. A practical bayonet clasp lets you remove the strap quickly and easily, thereby allowing you to use the case without the strap if you want to. The strap can also be replaced or switched out using the bayonet fastener. The TPU case is both flexible and retains its shape. It also fits snugly and feels great in your hands. And if you decide to put your smartphone down on a desk or shelf, the case's slightly raised shiny frame protects the display from coming into direct contact with the flat surface. You can easily customize your HangOn Case thanks to our interchangeable lanyard straps. A selection of straps in exciting colours and materials are available separately.
