Ecocomact is made with 100% recycled materials. Thanks to the use of unique and completely recycled fabrics, Tucano offers a new take on an iconic model, designed for work and leisure, with the aim environmental sustainability. Made of polyester, obtained from recycled PET bottles, the Ecolive backpack is functional, sporty and above all sustainable. An idea designed to give a second life to used materials, turning them into something different, potentially triggering an endless virtuous cycle. Sustainable materials are increasingly earning their place in the fashion world and Tucano's new design fits right into this concept by genuinely focusing attention on environmental issues and recycling.
